

Preparing an interview

If you had the chance to interview your hero for your school magazine, what questions would you ask? Write them down on this worksheet.

Remember: You only get one shot at interviewing your role model! So be well prepared.

This might help you prepare your interview:

Hello, _____ !

Thanks for agreeing to meet me. I'm _____ and I'm working for _____, our school magazine. Here are my questions:

Did you always know you wanted to be a _____ – even in your childhood?

_____ ?
_____ ?
_____ ?
_____ ?
_____ ?

Language support:

Our readers might be interested in... – your remarkable/ outstanding/innovative/visionary work – dedicated – Have you always been as adventurous/successful/hard-working/ disciplined as today? – How come you became...? – What inspired you to...? – So could you tell me something about...? – you have a straight career path – (to) experience a setback – (to) keep going – (to) never give up – (to) be given advice / (to) give advice – Looking at yourself, what would you...? – If you compare yourself to others... – (to) get where you are today – (to) learn important lessons – (to) find the secret to someone's success

First aid box

Possible questions for your interview

Our readers might be interested in how you became successful.
Would you like to tell us more about your remarkable work?
How did you get where you are today?

What inspired you to write your latest story/song?

You have a straight career path. Have you always been as hard-working as you are today?

If you compare yourself to other actors/singers/writers – what would you say is the most important difference to their careers?

Looking at yourself – what do you think is the key to your great success?

Many people say that you are a visionary person.
Did you ever get advice from anyone?